GERMAN NOTE

Reaches Washington—Concessions Made On Submarine Warfare—President Wilson Makes No Statement as to Whether Note Is Acceptable.

Washington, May 6.—While the final decision on the attitude of the American government waits on the official text, some cabinet members indicated that the German assurances probably would be accepted and that diplomatic relations would not be broken unless the order to submarine commanders was violated and American lives endangered.

Washington, May 6.—President Wilson and the cabinet went carefully over the German note as transmitted in news dispatches from Berlin.

A first feeling that it was unsatisfactory, was somewhat lessened by the text of the new orders to submarine commanders, although it was foreseen that the reference to immunity for merchant ships recognized by international law might admit of some dispute of interpretation.

So much depends upon words and their shades of meaning involved in translation from German to English that no decision can be attempted until the official text is in the President's hands.

When the cabinet meeting broke up Secretary Lansing met all inquiries with this reply:

"I can not discuss it at all at this time."

All the other members of the cabinet made similar statements. It was made plain that President Wilson would decide after studying the official text.

At the State Department, after the cabinet meeting, it was stated that no "hasty" action would be taken on the German note, and that in view of its length and the necessity of digesting it carefully, it was "improbable" that any decision would be reached before next week.

The cabinet was in session two hours and a half—the longest meeting held in several months.

Members of the cabinet were uncommunicative, all saying that no further steps would be taken until the official text was placed before President Wilson.

The private view of officials apparently was that the new orders to submarine commanders apparently met the demands of the United States unless an interpretation were placed on them to lead to attack on merchant vessels armed for defensive purposes. The general tenor of the German note, however, was considered unsatisfactory.

Ambassador Gerard cabled yesterday that he had started in on the cables and that it should be in Washington tonight.

SWEARS BLACK TEXAS FIRED SHOT THAT KILLED ENGINEER GIBSON.

James Williams, alias "Roadsport," entered a plea of guilty to a charge of murder in the first degree at 11:30 Friday morning at Ashland and in less than half an hour heard his sentence, "life imprisonment in the Kentucky penitentiary."

His plea and sentence followed the submission to Judge Halbert a sworn statement in which he confessed that he was one of the four negroes who held up and robbed C. & O. Engineer Joseph C. Gibson and Fireman Clarence Griffith in a freight car in lower Ashland on the night of September 9, 1915, following which Mr. Gibson was shot and instantly killed.

"Roadsport" claims that "Black Texas," who has already paid the penalty for his part in the crime with his life in the electric chair, fired the fatal shot.

THE YEUILL MEETINGS.

Evangelist Yeuill arrived Saturday. He will be at the Christian church in the morning and at the Growers warehouse at night. No afternoon meeting tomorrow. The meetings at the warehouse will all be on as high plane as if held in the church. Like the chautauqua, it must be held in the largest place. These meetings will appeal to the best citizens as well as to the public in general. Dr. Yeuill has all the culture of a minister with his enthusiasm of an evangelist.

The warehouse has been transformed into a tabernacle with elevated seats and platform and seating for over 1,200 people. For days men have worked to clean up the place and get it into its present order. Additional gas and electric lights have been installed. All persons coming in autos should know that a special officer has been hired by the church to look after the cars during the services. All cars can be parked on Poplar street. From all reports the people from the county as well as the city, will attend these services.

BIDDY BEERS TO CATCH FOR THE COLTS.

(Lexington Leader.)

Biddy Beers of Charleston, S. C., will arrive in Lexington Saturday to join the Colts, and will be one of the catching staff for the team during the season. The announcement that this crack player, who managed the Charleston team last year, has been retained, will come as a gratifying surprise to local fans. His accession means material strength to a team which already gives extraordinary promise.

MRS. STEWART GIVEN GENEROUS RECEPTION.

Washington, May 6.—Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart of Kentucky, who was one of the speakers at the National Conservation Congress here, her subject having to do with the line of work in which she is most interested, the doing away with illiteracy, was most generously received by the members of the Congress. Mrs. Stewart also was pleasantly entertained while here by Kentuckians and others.
